Nonprofit Sector Workforce Coalition A National Campaign to Recruit, Prepare, and Retain a Skilled and Diverse Next-Generation of Nonprofit Sector Leadership

Nonprofit Sector Workforce Coalition Elects First Governing Board

Kansas City, MO — The Nonprofit Sector Workforce Coalition (NSWC) elected its first Governing Board during a recent October meeting in Los Angeles, California.

Paul Schmitz, Chief Executive Officer of Public Allies Incorporated, was elected Chairman of the NSWC Governing Board, while James Weinberg, Founder/CEO of CommonGood Careers was elected Vice-Chairman of the Board. Michael Watson, Senior Vice President of Human Resources for Girl Scouts of the USA was elected Board Treasurer and Ashima Saigal, Director of Educational Technology at the Johnson Center for Philanthropy and Nonprofit Leadership at Grand Valley State University, was elected Board Secretary.

The NSWC is comprised of over 60 nonprofit organizations, associations, foundations and academic centers focused on addressing issues facing the nonprofit sector workforce. This national coalition, which includes well known organizations such as YMCA, United Way, and the National Urban League, seeks to enter the nonprofit sector into the highly anticipated talent war.

The coalition is actively engaging the sector in three specific areas; workforce diversity, financial barriers to nonprofit careers and the national campaign to accumulate skilled and talented leadership.

“The nonprofit sector employs 14 million people - more than the construction and utility industries combined - and we deliver some of the most urgent and important services that our communities need. The sector is growing more than twice as fast as the business sector,” said Paul Schmitz, CEO of Public Allies, Inc. “We need the best talent in order to better lead and serve our communities.”
